VIRGINIA BEATEN BY THE SEWANEETEE TEAM

University of South Triumphs Over Orange and Blue, 12 to 0.

VISITORS PROVE GREAT SURPRISE

Tennesseans Outplay Virginia Men on Slippery Field, and Score One Touchdown in Each Half, Blanking Their Opponents in Both.

NORFOLK, VA., November 2.—To the surprise of the large crowd that braved unfavorable weather to witness the game, the football eleven of the University of the South today defeated the unbeaten eleven of the University of Virginia in a hard game by a score of 12 to 0, scoring two touchdowns and kicking goal after each. The betting odds favored Virginia, and the adherents of the Orange and Blue confidently expected a triumph, but the Tennesseans played a fast and brilliant game.

The game was played at Lafayette Field, which was in rather poor condition for good football, owing to the rain, and neither eleven could play the game as scientifically as might have been expected under more favorable conditions. Little was known here of the strength of the Sewanee eleven, but they proved themselves masters of the new game, and by hard and determined work managed not only to score twice, but to prevent the Virginia team from scoring. The Virginia team played desperately to win, but was unable to advance the ball consistently against Sewanee's brilliant defense.

The game was played in a driving rain and mud ankle deep. The Tennesseans outplayed the Virginians in every department of the game except in punting. Virginia had a slight advantage there, but even this was not strong, and it availed little.

A forward pass produced the first score for Sewanee after eight minutes of play, Barrett throwing the ball to Lewis for thirty yards and a touchdown. Evans kicked goal, and a touchdown was frequently attempted, Sewanee gaining the most ground by this method of play.

Although handicapped by a muddy field, the Sewanee team played like a machine, often throwing Virginia back for losses.

Story of Game in Detail.
Virginia won the toss and defended the west goal. The first three plays after the kick off looked bad for Virginia. Shipp went thirty yards around the line, followed by Lanier and Stone for ten each through the line. The Virginians then braced and held Sewanee for downs.

Honaker, for Virginia, seemed sure of a touchdown in the first half. Going around right end with practically no interference, he ran a distance of forty yards, only to slip in the mud-puddle and lose his chance. The half ended; Sewanee, 6; Virginia, 0.

The only important incident of the game came early in the second half, when Quarterback Barrett was put out for slugging. Virginia was allowed the penalty of half the distance to the Sewanee goal, a distance of thirty yards.

The Second Score.
Sewanee's touchdown in the second half followed a forty-yard run by Lanier through Virginia's right tackle, being tackled by Honaker on Virginia's twenty-yard line.

Shipp and Evans then smashed the line for six yards each. Virginia braced and held for downs on her two-yard line. Crawford punted out forty-five yards, but rapid line plunges and off-tackle plays quickly brought the ball back to Virginia's thirty-yard line. Shipp, then running around left end with perfect interference, crossed Virginia's goal line. Evans kicked goal.

There was then but eight minutes more to play, and during that time Sewanee tore up Virginia's line almost at will, although the Virginians fought gamely to the end and twice threw Shipp back for losses.

The Tennesseans considerably outplayed the Virginians, and used their weight to advantage on the wet and slippery field. It was thought before the game that Virginia's back field would prove too fast for Sewanee, and that Sewanee's back would prove the easy mark for the Virginians, but just the reverse of form proved true.

Virginia's back field was a disappointment to the local admirers of that team, and Sewanee's was a distinct surprise. Sewanee's ends were also fast.

With the one exception the game was devoid of rough playing, although many penalties were administered for infringement of rules, and of these, Sewanee got the most.

Shipp was the particular star for

V. M. I. CADET TEAM DEFEATS ROANOKE

Lexingtonians, Even on Muddy Field, Had No Trouble Scoring 44.

THE COLLEGIANS OUTCLASSED

Cadet Eleven Played Substitutes and Then Won With Perfect Ease.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

LEXINGTON, VA., November 2.—Virginia Military Institute won the game from Roanoke College this afternoon by a score of 44 to 0. The field was very muddy, and rain fell during a large part of the game. The visitors were unable to gain against the Cadets' defense, and resorted to punting almost every time they had the ball. The condition of the field prevented what would otherwise have been long gains by V. M. I., and necessarily kept the score down. The cadets played five substitutes until within a few minutes of the close of the second half, when the regulars took their places. Doyle, Massie and Hancock were the stars of the contest. Time of the halves, 20 and 15 minutes. Following is the line-up: V. M. I. Position. R. C. Clemmer, left end; Fray (Pogge), left tackle; Pine (Pattison), left guard; Aylor (Pattison), center; Sawyer (Pattison), right guard; Davis (Pattison), right tackle; Morton (Pattison), right end; Anderson (Pattison), fullback; Bowers (Pattison), left halfback; Graybill (Pattison), right halfback; Rhudy (Pattison), quarterback; McKelvey (Pattison), fullback; Killey (McLain), Summary: Touchdowns—Bledier, Massie, Doyle, 2; Fray, Hancock, McLain. Goals from touchdowns—Doyle, 4; Referee, Captain Marshall, V. M. I. Umpire, Mr. Bare, University of North Carolina. Linesman, Mr. Riley, V. M. I. Timekeeper, Mr. Ragland, V. M. I.

The game scheduled to be played between Richmond College and Washington and Lee had to be called off because Wilson field was covered with six inches of water.

FRED TARAL LEADS ALL
Great American Jockey Leads Winners on Austro-Hungarian Turf.

VIENNA, November 2.—The American Jockey, Fred Taral, heads the list of winning riders on the Austro-Hungarian turf, he having up to date ridden sixty-five winners. During the short meeting just over Taral rode two winners, among them being the victor in the jubilee prize. Second on the list is the Hungarian rider, G. Jemek, with fifty-three wins, while the other Americans to do well are H. Birkensrud and Miles. Taral, Birkensrud and Miles have all signed again for next season.

J. H. (Skeets) Martin, who came to this country to ride for Baron Rothschild, under a two-year contract for a retainer of $10,000 a year, could not get along with his English trainer, owing to the latter's anti-American feeling. He has been paid off for two years and leaves at once for England.

DEEP RUN HOUNDS FURNISH GOOD RUN

Six Couple Led a Small Field a Very Merry Chase.

BUT FOUR BRAVED THE RAIN

On Wednesday Morning a Red Fox Will Give Horses and Hounds Pleasant Jaunt.

Deep Run Hounds met yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the Quarry, near Lakeside.

On account of the very wet weather the field, beside the master and huntsman, was limited to two riders. Mr. J. St. George Bryan, M. F. H., was on "Overland"; Hall, the huntsman, rode "Essex"; Dr. Robert C. Bryan was up on "Sirius"; and Mr. Gathwright had the mount on "Young Blitzen," an exceedingly clever three-year-old.

Six couple of hounds were trotted to the meet, and finding, went away through Lakeside and Warwick's to a check.

Again laid on, the pack streamed away across Squire Devereux's place, through Putney's, Mordecai's, to the finish at the clubhouse.

Hounds ran very fast, and the field, though small in numbers, made up for its thinness by good performances over the fences.

The next fixture marked the day, for the quartet of hunters seemed to like the mud and to disdain the jumps which punctuated the run.

The usual Saturday afternoon reception at the kennels, which is one of the social events of the week, was lacking, for the steady downpour kept away the members.

The next fixture is set for Wednesday morning, when a live fox will be released. As the bagman is of the red variety, it is possible that the adventurous riders may land in the region around Ashland before the fox is separated from his brush.

AMERICAN GIRL JOCKEY

Miss Mary Money Is Soon to Ride in Races at Paris.

PARIS, November 2.—Paris already is charmed with the possession of women jockeys, physicians and cabdrivers, and even women sandwichmen. It is now soon to have a woman jockey. The name of the young woman who is expected to enter on this new career is Miss Mary Money, who now is a guest of the Countess de Molina, at Chantilly. She is an American girl.

When riding she dresses like a male jockey, is a fearless horsewoman and takes hedges and ditches like a practiced steeplechaser. It is hoped that her application for a jockey's license will be favorably entertained.

PENNSYLVANIA WINNER

PRINCETON BEATS CARLISLE INDIANS

Tigers Triumph in Great Game by the Score of 16 to 0.

PRINCETON LINE HOLDS WELL

Indians Unable to Work Long Forward Pass With Any Success.

NEW YORK, November 2.—Smartering under their defeat last Saturday by the Cornell team at Ithaca, the Princeton football team this afternoon defeated the Carlisle Indians eleven in this city by a score of 16 to 0 before a vast crowd of followers of the sport, in which college and university men predominated. The Indians last Saturday defeated the University of Pennsylvania team by 26 to 6, and many predicted that the fast Carlisle aggregation would humble the Tigers. Bets were freely made that the Indians would win.

The teams were well matched in weight, Princeton averaging 181 and Carlisle 173 pounds; but the Indian weight was better distributed. The Princeton line, through which Walder, of Cornell, broke repeatedly last Saturday, was strong to-day, and the Indians could not gain consistently through it, while the fast Tiger backs and ends repeatedly prevented attempted runs.

Indians Are Powerless.
The Indians did not negotiate one successful forward pass, a play so effective at Philadelphia. There was but one play with which they could gain any ground—a fake kick. At no time was the danger in danger.

The significant feature of the play was the noticeable lack of the dash and speed which characterized Carlisle's game in Philadelphia. Carlisle's line was weak, McCormick frequently plunging through for his gains. McCormick's line-bucking and interference were potent factors in the victory of his team.

In the second half, Dillon, whose generalship, dash and sure handling of punts showed brilliantly, was taken out in order to save him for the Yale game. Captain McCormick was also removed under strong protest on his part. Tibbot, whose spectacular run, sixty-two yards through a broken field, brought Princeton's final touchdown, also was sent to the side lines. Tibbot's run was the only feature of the game, Princeton being apparently satisfied with a safe score. The game was played in a drizzling rain, which made trick plays difficult. Princeton worked the on-side kick off feverishly several times. Straight football, however, was responsible for most of her gains. There were several penalties for off-side plays and holding.

On this occasion the local press were profuse in their praise of the turn. Commenting on their act The Times-Dispatch said:

"No race contest nor act has ever afforded more pleasure or drawn larger audiences in the big rink of the River, and than the skating act of the Powers Brothers, of New York."

GEORGETOWN-TECH GAME FOR MONDAY

The Great Football Game Postponed on Account of Weather for Two Days.

BOTH ELEVENS IN FINE CONDITION

Though V. P. I. Is Slightly Heavier, the Georgetown Team Is Very Fast, and Beautiful Exhibition Is Assured—Both to Play Carolina.

Monday's Line-Up

The football teams of the Virginia Polytechnic Institute and Georgetown University found it impossible to play their scheduled game at Broad Street Park yesterday afternoon owing to the execrable weather. At a conference of the teams, managers and their friends, it was arranged to postpone the game until to-morrow (Monday) afternoon at 3:30, when the game will be played, rain or shine, snow or blow. Quite a large crowd considering the heavy downpour turned out yesterday, but all saw that it was preposterous to attempt a football game. A swimming match would have been almost as feasible under existing conditions.

The two elevens had come to Richmond at heavy expense for this game, and it would have been a serious loss to them to go home without a game. Under these conditions the two teams were guaranteed a certain sum in consideration of remaining here until Monday.

Neatly Equal in Weight.
The two elevens are about equal in weight, the V. P. I. men having a slight advantage, but not sufficient to prove a serious factor in the result. Each team will average about 160 and 170 pounds, and that is as close as one can approximate the situation. The Georgetown boys more than make up in speed and alertness what they lack in weight, and have been coached to a fine point by Dr. J. A. Kelly, a former star halfback and captain, who has been assisted by several graduate coaches. Quarterback Cohen of Georgetown eleven is a Richmond boy, and is a good one. It is a peculiar coincidence that Sheppard, who plays the same position on the V. P. I. eleven, is also a Richmonder, both teams being under the generalship of Richmond boys.

V. P. I. has been admirably coached by Mr. C. R. Williams, an old University of Virginia star, who coached the fast and winning eleven of Clemson College, S. C., last year, and has a fine record in shaping teams. He has been ably assisted by Mr. C. P. Miles, of this city, popularly known as "Sally" Miles, who made a great record as a player with the Techs.

Several changes have been made in the positions since the Davidson game, and the team has been strengthened thereby. Captain Duffield has been shifted from tackle to fullback, so that now both Captains Dutcher and Duffield are playing fullback on their respective elevens.

Both teams are somewhat crippled by injuries in recent games and by unavoidable absences. Left Tackle Carl Vilsack, of Georgetown, was called to his home at Pittsburg Friday by a telegram announcing his mother's illness. It is contemplated to play Murray and Mulhall at tackles instead. One or more of the V. P. I. team is not in the best of condition, including Fullback Duffield, but each team has capable substitutes, and will run them in if it be deemed advisable.

Coach Lamson to See It.
Coach Lamson, of the University of North Carolina team, is in the city to see the game and get a line on the offensive and defensive work of both, so that Carolina will be able to more intelligently prepare for its games. North Carolina will play Georgetown in Washington next Saturday, and will meet V. P. I. in this city on Thanksgiving Day.

The Georgetown team and substitutes at Murphy's Hotel, and the V. P. I. squad and coaches at the Jefferson, where they will remain until
